Table of Contents

1. Hi
2. Glory

Hi

Hello, I'm a huge Glorybringer fan, and recently, I realised that Tui never got to the bit where Glory punishes Deathbringer for jumping on Winter. So I decided to write my own bit. Sorry if it's not that good, it's my first Fanfic on Wattpad.

This fanfic starts after Deathbringer gives the Jade Winglet instructions to find the talons of peace.

Also, none of the characters are mine, they belong to Tui, the awesome author of Wings Of Fire. The art is also not mine. Thank you. Hope you enjoy!

- SunnyWings

Glory

Glory POV

The Jade Winglet walk out through the doorway, and the RainWing guards start to come in and attempt to arrange themselves into a sort of line.

While she waits, Glory suddenly remembers something and turns to Deathbringer, "As your punishment for attacking Prince Winter, for the next month, sit 10 tail lengths away from me at all times. It'll be great excuse to give myself more personal space."

To Glory's amusement, Deathbringer's eyes widened and he spluttered, "TEN TAIL LENGTHS? A WHOLE MONTH? HOW AM I SUPPOSED TO PROTECT YOU?!'

Glory rolled her eyes. Typical. "It's your own fault, stop attacking everyone and everything. I can take care of myself. AND there's the Top Secret Invisible Guard you assigned to me."

Deathbringer blinked, looking a bit panicked. "But-but-but I want- I need to protect you! Can you make it one tail length? Five? Seven?"

"GO AWAY DEATHBRINGER! I'M BUSY! TEN TAIL LENGTHS!"

Deathbringer's tail drooped and Glory felt a little bit guilty. But he did attack Winter. She reminded herself. "Yes your majesty." He mumbled and slopped 7 tail lengths away.

Pretending not to notice, Glory turned to her guards as they, one by one, reported that the forest was calm.

"Good job," she praised them. "Make sure you keep an eye on the IceWing and notify me when Queen Glacier arrives."

The RainWings bowed and left, glancing at Deathbringer every now or then with small spots of yellow on their ruffs. Then the Jade Winglet pushed in. Deathbringer immediately sat up and eyed Winter carefully.

"We're leaving for the Talons Of Peace soon. I assume you've punished that NightWing of yours?" He glared at Deathbringer suspiciously, and Deathbringer glared right back.

"Winter." Qibli warned him, the turned to Glory. "I'd guess that you put him there?" Dryly, he pointed his tail at Deathbringer sitting less than 5 tail lengths away.

Glory rolled her eyes at him, "Deathbringer! 10."

"This is 10! Go get one of the dragonets! This could even be 15 tail lengths!" Protested Deathbringer.

Glory turned to Winter and Moon suddenly-stifled a giggle? "You see what I have to put up with everyday?" Deathbringer let out a hurt growl.

Winter muttered, "I could attack him," hissing under his breath.

Deathbringer glared, "IceWing, I would not advise you to try that."

Glory sighed, "That's enough! Deathbringer, OUT. NOW' she added as Deathbringer opened his mouth to protest. Deathbringer vanished out the door grumbling. Then Glory turns to the dragonets. "You're leaving today?" They nodded and Glory continued, "Good luck. Remember, be careful."

Kinkajou waved cheerfully, "We will, Your Majesty." The others say goodbyes as well and Glory was alone for the first time in a week.

Even if it was only for two seconds before Deathbringer charged back in, "Now can I sit next to you?"

Glory sighed, then noded. Deathbringer smiled smugly.

"And you can sit on my throne too."

Thank you for reading this. I'm sorry it's a bit short...